Welcome!

My name is Robmarie. I created this space as a place to share some of my academic and work-related accomplishments. Feel free to look around! For more info, reach out to hello@robmarielopez.com.

Psychologist

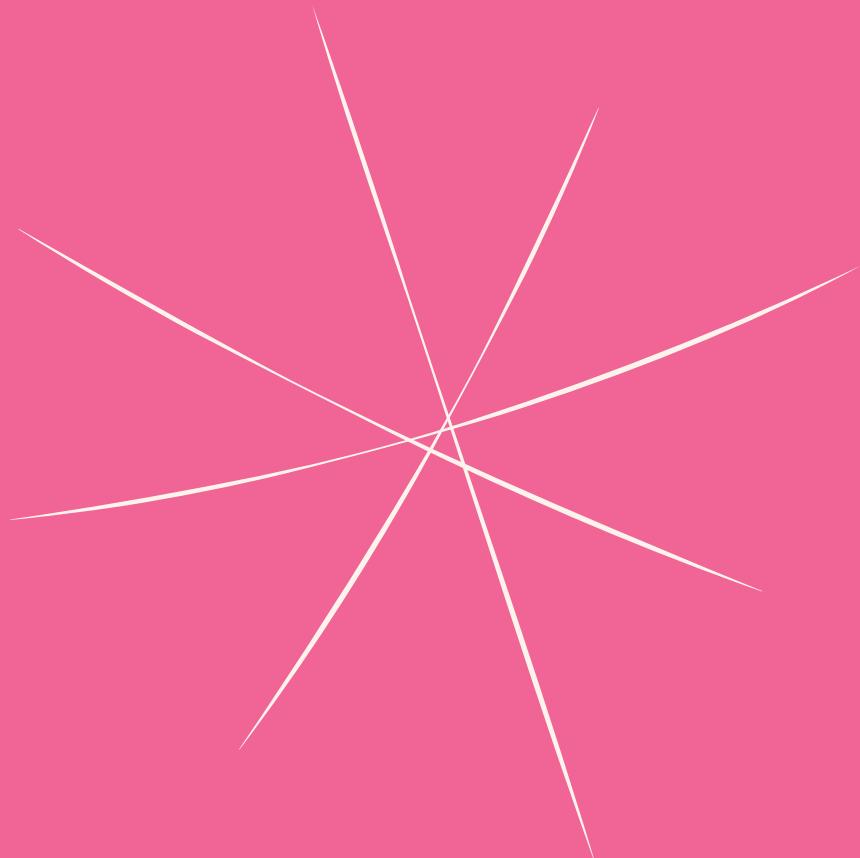

JEPPR #5474 (Currently Inactive)

First things first! I am primarily a research psychologist, who earned the right to practice in Puerto Rico after completing an M.A. in Counseling Psychology from the Interamerican University of Puerto Rico (and, of course, passing the board exam). However, I have paused my registry in order to pursue editorial design on a professional basis.

Because I wanted to hone my skills as both academic writer and researcher, I decided to pursue a Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology at Ponce Health Sciences University, where I had the opportunity to contribute to research on borderline personality disorder and later, on bipolar disorder neuroprogression, analyzing the effectiveness of an HCL-32-based screening intervention for depressed women with mixed mood episodes as part of my dissertation. I am now more interested in interdisciplinary research concerning visual perception.

Writer

I don't know if I love to write,
but I love writing.

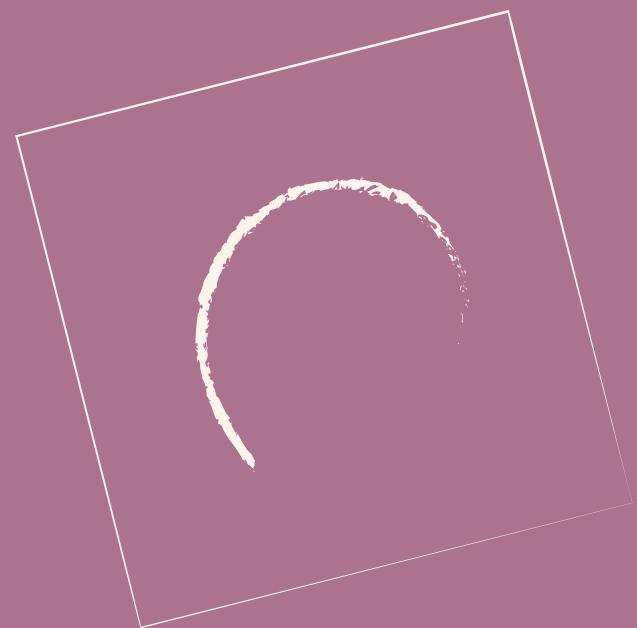

While I have some experience writing poetry and experimental fiction (some of it surprisingly award-winning!), I am currently most active as an academic writer.

Olvido¹

Y me sigo hundiendo,
En las profundidades de ese vasto océano,
Llamado Olvido.

Lentamente desciendo,
Mientras observo a la multitud transitar la superficie...

Tan lejos. Tan efímera ante mis ojos,
Navegan con desespero volátil el pugilato de lo cotidiano –
¡Tan lejos!

Y yo, inmersa en un continuo descenso,
Observando ilusiones nadar furtivamente,
